

The Beauty Within and Without

Beauty is everywhere, it's true,
Even in tough times, it shines through.
Learning and growing, a captivating view,
Opportunities to thrive, to renew.

Happiness, a radiant glow, ignites creativity's flame,
Bringing joy and contentment, life's sweet acclaim.

For in those moments, true happiness springs.
A blissful contentment, a feeling so rare,
It should be embraced fully, for its joy is beyond compare.

Tears reveal a beauty so deep,
Frustration, too, a sign of hearts that keep.
Absence of empathy would make us weep,
A dullness we shun, a beauty we reap.

Anger, too, can exalt and uplift,
A path to growth, a positive shift.
Complex emotions, a powerful gift,
Leading us forward, a positive rift.

Each day's awakening is a beautiful start,
Adventure awaits, a new day's part.
Nature's peace, a balm to the heart,
A beauty unmatched, a work of art.

Stargazing, camping, or feeling the air press,
No feeling compares, it's a beautiful caress.
Running, taking walks, watching the sun's daily race,
Sunsets, sunrises, each a breathtaking embrace.

Books, podcasts, and learning, a treasure trove,

A world of knowledge, waiting to prove.
Beauty in discovery, in learning to rove,
A beautiful journey, in which we evolve.

So many places call, urging to explore,
Where diverse souls gather, revealing more.
In differences, beauty starts to pour,
New ideas and perspectives, a vast store.

Every person, a stroke on life's canvas, you see,
Enriching our understanding, setting our minds free.
A world of colors, as unique as can be,
Each encounter, a gift, a key.

Friendships and family born from these ties,
Both beautiful treasures beneath the skies.
Cherishing moments, sharing laughs and cries,
Together, embracing life's lows and highs.

Everywhere you look, beauty is there,
In big things and small, it's everywhere.
